Traction Company, issued orders yesterday directing motormen to cut off power when crossing all intersecting streets, descending grades and passing circuit-breakers, and cars are to be run at not more than three miles an hour when crossing all frogs, switches and turnouts. At the same time De Groot felt a shock, and he dropped the reins with which he was leading the horses. This probably saved his life. Investigation showed that the wire, which was an ordinary telegraph or telephone wire, had come in contact with a guard-wire of the Consolidated Traction Company's equipment, and that an electric light wire, from which the insulator halbeen worn, was also resting on the guard-wire. The detached wire, thus heavily charged, had been lying for syome time in the street.

JERSEY CITY.

There have been so many burglaries on Jersey City Heights recently that Captain McKaig, of the Fourth Precinct, has decided to suspend every policeman on whose beat a burglary occurs unless the officer can show conclusively that he was not negligent.

The suit brought by Attorney-General Stockton, in the name of the State of New-Jersey, against the the name of the State of New-Jersey, against the American Tobacco Company, for the purpose of dissolving the corporation on the ground that it is a trust, was set down for argument before Chancellor McGill at Jersey City yesterday, but was postponed until next Monday. Counsel for the company asked the Chancellor to vacate the order to take testimony in New-York, and that also will be decided next Monday. In support of the motion it was alleged that to take testimony in New-York would expose business secrets, and so injure the American Company and benefit its rival, the National Tobacco Company. It was further alleged that Frank and John Mills, two of the State's prosecutors, are agents of the National.

AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

THE BURSTING OF A PIPE ON THE TOP FLOOR OF HENRY ALTENBRAND'S HOME CAUSED

MUCH LOSS-THE FAMILY ABSENT. Serious damage has been done to the fine house of Henry Altenbrand, president of the New-York and Brooklyn Malting Company, at No. 141 Hancock-st., one of the choice residence parts of the city, by the bursting of a water pipe in the absence of the famlly. The house was closed at the end of May, and the family went to Lake Hopatcong. When S. S. the family went to Lake Hopateong. When S. S. Whitehouse and his family returned from the country to their house next door last week, water was found in the celar. The water pipes were examined, but no leak was found and it was supposed that rain had driven in. But on Sunday the flood of water increased, and Mrs. Whitehouse concluded it came from the adjoining house. Mr. Whitehouse made an examination by scaling the yard fence, and found water pouring through the celling in Mr. Altenbrand's house. He got a plumber and broke open the house, and the leak was stopped. The water must have been escaping for several weeks, for every floor was flooded, the carpets were ruined, together with much of the furniture, and the cellings had nearly all fallen off. The neighbors worked hard to get all the water possible out, but the house was thoroughly drenched and soaked. It is estimated that it will cost several thousands of dollars to repair the damage, as the house was finished in hardwood, elaborately decorated and richly furnished. It was a small pipe in the top of the house which burst.

There was the osual assortment of queer confections and dishes for which the Chinese are famous.

There will be no wedding tour, as the hone, moon will be spent in the laundry. Mr. Kleinschnitz said that he could not remember the name of the minister who married the couple. He had been nicely remembered, he said, by his new son-in-law, who had given him a substantial present, probably in accordance with the custom that prevails in far Cathay, where the bride is virtually bought by the husband.

Charlie Kee is a well-to-do Chinaman, and is thoroughly Americanized. He is often called on to act as interpreter in the various courts because of his knowledge of the English language.

NAVAL PLANS CHANGED.

THE DEATH OF CAPTAIN BEIDGMAN AFFECTS THE PROMOTION OF LIEUTENANT-COMMANDER HANFORD.

The death of an officer of the Navy usually calls out many expressions of sorrow and regret from his fellows, but the death of Captain W. R. Bridgwas discussed in such sympathy and with such marked. Captain Bridgman will be remembered by everybody who had any connection with the Colum-bian Naval Review as the chief of staff to Rear-Admiral Gherardi, the commandant of the combined rayal fleets. He had been in command of the Baitlmore, but was temporarily relieved by Captain Sumner, to become chief of staff. After all of the foreign war vessels left here Captain Bridgman was returned to the command of the Baltimore, and on afterward went to the Asiatic station with her He was recently relieved by Captain B. F. Day, and on his arrival at San Francisco went to Tacoma on his arrival at the died from Awatic cholera is not believed. It was known that he was indisposed, ard from the fact that for the last few years he has practised extreme abstemiousness, living on closflet, it is supposed that he was unable to rally his strength.

By the death of Captain Bridgman it was fully demonstrated that man's calculations of to-day will not answer for to-morrow. The article in The Trib-une of yesterday to the effect that Lieutenant-Commander Franklin Hanford, aid to Admiral Gherardi, was made senior in his grade by the re-tirement of Commander Joshua Bishop, and that he would be entitled to his promotion upon the retire-ment of Admiral Gherardi in November, was true then. But by the death of Capital Bridgman there is made another vacancy in the commander's list by the entitled promotion of Commander Yates Stirling and on Thursday Lieutenant-Commander Hanford motion. By a typographical error Mr. Hanford's Scottsville, N. Y The death of Captain Bridgman also benefits an-other of Admiral Gherardi's aids, Lieutenant Charles A. Adams, by bringing him to the top of the list of his grade, and he will be entitled to promotion to lieutenant-commander on the retirement of Admiral Gherardi. He, too, is an Empire State man, having been born in Buffalo May 28, 1846. He is one of the most popular officers in the service, and his brother officers were so familiar with Los literary work in the days of the "seventies" that they dubbed him "Adams, of "The Bungtown Herald," to distinguish him from others of the same name. He is a thorough sallor and was one of those who begged to leave the Academy and go to fight during the Civil War, but he had to remain at his studies. He knows no such word as fear, and those who recall the severe storm which the old Ossipee was in in 1872 will never forget his shout to the officer on deck as he was thrown from his berth against the opposite side of the ship, "Briog her up a point Black!" It will be twenty-one years on November 8 since he had two bars put into his shoulder-straps, and his fellows will be glad to motion to lieutenant-commander on the retirement congratulate him when he substitutes the gold leaf for them at his coming promotion.

THE OPPORTUNITY LOST TO ST. PAUL'S CHURCH A letter received by The Tribune, in commenting on the article published last Saturday about the plan proposed many years ago of building a Methodist Episcopal Church on the quadrangular piece of ground, bounded on the south by Twenty-fifthst, on the north by Twenty-sixth-st, on the east by Fifth-ave, and on the west by Broadway, says; The St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church congregation had no interest in it."

This assertion is correct, but is not a correction: The Tribune said: "This entire block came near passing into the hands of St. Paul's Methodist Eq. iscopal Association about forty years ago." In The Tribune of last Sunday Bishop Poster, of the Hethodist Episcopal Church, speaking of the big opportunity which was lost to St. Paul's Church in not selecting this site, after it had once been secured for the church by a syndicate of prominent Methodist laymen for 130,000, said: "I had a large portion of the funds subscribed, and would have completed the church building on that block but for a false rumor which reached the ears of some of the bishops, to the effect that we intended to organize an independent Methodist Church, and that I was to be an independent pastor. I do not hink," continued the Bishop, "that it is improper for me to say that this rumor was instigated and circuiated by ministers in the Church who were jealous of this enterprise. If the negotiations had been carried out, the church would to-day be one of the richest in America." passing into the hands of St. Paul's Methodist Eris-America.

The writer of the letter to The Tribune alds the names of the Rev. R. S. Foster (now Bishop Fester).

BEAUTIFUL HATS ON EXHIBITION.

Yesterday there were specimens from Félix, Virot, Rebouhr, and Esther Meyer, of Paris. One effective toque, consisting of a steel frame, black lace, turquoise blue ribbon, and a Greek key across the front, had much the appearance of the modern Albanian headdress, and was of the shape known as Continental, made of ceriose velvet, stitched in thread of the same color—a device which all the women declare to be really original—and caught up with black algreites and birds. To-day these millinery treasures will be transferred to the public show-rooms.

If you're not more than 34 inches around the chest, you can get clothes cheaper than larger men. There's no difference in the way ours are made up. We are just as careful how we make our young men's clothes as we are in making our men's. That means we use all the precautions there are.

Our Fall book is worth sending for anyway, whether

New York. Four Brooklyn Stores,

It's true that we made up the first stock of Children's Clothes (we're proud of it), but of course we did not get our business underway in time to dress the first boy; yet it's a fact that our house was established before the flood. We refer to the flood of cheap and worthless Boys' clothing that is sold by the "We-Keep-Everything" stores, and that is advertised daily as "All Wool Suits at $1.99 worth $6.00." These "all wool" fabrics are base fabrications, and this "cheap clothing" is not cheap.

Everything for boys-from hats to shoes-at as low prices as you can afford to pay.
